Retro Gaming Museum

The Long Island Retro Gaming Museum showcases the most unique and rarest gaming hardware and software, graciously donated by various collectors in our community. Learn and see what made these highly sought-after artifacts of gaming history so special to the overall evolution of video games. We are also thrilled to welcome two new exhibits to the museum -

- The Steve Reid Art Collection
- Nintendo World Championship Memories

Indie/Homebrew Showcase

Did you know that there are still people making new games for our beloved aging hardware? These talented developers easily show that there is plenty of life left and discoveries to be made in systems that many wrote off as having "complete" libraries long ago. Located on the Second Floor.

Gaming Console Timeline

Walk through over five decades of home and portable gaming consoles where you'll experience the complete timeline of mainstream video game consoles in the living room. Observe the evolution of home gaming, learn a thing or two, and most of all, play! Each console here is playable, letting you experience every game and era firsthand. Located on the Second Floor.

Tetris Exhibit

Considered to be one of the greatest games of all time, LI Retro presents an encompassing view into the history and future of TETRIS. From the original games that started the craze, to its early roots, sequels, spin-offs, and impressive clones, play through them all and understand what made this classic the most-played game of all time. Located on the First Floor in the General Freeplay section.

Food Trucks

All Food trucks located outside of the front of the building. The Museum also has a cafe located in the back of the Marketplace.

- Extreme Empanadas
